A REFORM WAVE HITS WASHINGTON

District of Columbia to be Cleaned Up Before Congress Meets in December.

WILL STAMP OUT GAMBLING.

"Bucket Shops" Unceremoniously Raided-Big Poker Games Will Have Their Turn Next.

Washington, Aug. 29 .- A reform wave inaugurated a few weeks ago has broken out in this city in acute form, and the local authorities have started out to clean up the District of Columbia before Congress comes back in December. Five of the leading brokers' offices, or "bucket shops," were unceremoniously and without warning raided at noon yesterday, when the places were crowded with customers. Six more alleged bucket shops will be closed today, thus bucket shops will be closed today, thus putting practically all of them in the city out of business. About three weeks ago the police began a campaign against the hand book operators. These curbstone racing gamblers have been plying their trade so openly in Washington for the past two years that the situation had become almost a national scandal because of the direct government of the District of Columbia by Congress. It was possible for a man to get a bet down in Washington at any time, and numerous cigar stores, saloons and lunch rooms were openly known as the headquarters of the hand book men, who practically made their shown as the headquarters of the head book men, who practically made their sheets on the open streets and took bets apparently with immunity. It is said that the next move of the District offithat the next move of the District offi-cials will be against the big poker games which, it is hinted in mysteri-ous tones, flourish in private rooms in the capital's big hotels, especially when Congress is in session.

IF BIRDS SET BROKEN LEGS, WHY NOT BROKEN WINGS?

New York, Aug. 24.—"If birds are able to set their broken legs, why do they not set their wings?"

This was the comment of Frank M. Chapman, assistant curator of the de-partment of mammalogy and ornithole ogy of the American museum of natogy of the American Indeedid of Satural history, when he was asked about the confirmation of Rev. William J. Long's story that birds could mend their own broken legs, which came in a cabled interview with Rev. Theo-their own broken legs, which came in a cabled interview with Rev. Theodore Wood, an English naturalist.

"Mr. Long and his defenders cite many instances of birds setting their own legs, but they mention no birds setting broken wings," said Mr. Chapman. "A bird may live without its legs, but it is placed at a great disadvantage when it loses power of flight. It is of far greater importance for a bird to be able to set its wing than for it to repair a broken leg. Still, as every sportsman knows, the conclusion of the hunting season in the south is marked by the presence of large numbers of crippled water fowl, which, having been wing-broken earlier in the season, are unable to return north.

"Their presence in the south long after their time of migration is passed in evidence of their inability to regain the power of flight. It should not be forgotten," continued Mr. Chapman, "that Mr. Long's alleged legsetting cases deal with birds that live close to the ground. Is it reasonable to assume that the 'setting' is brought about by entirely natural means, by the mixing of the blood from the wound with dirt and moss so that the break becomes 'set' after a fashion?"

Mr. Chapman declared that he had

Mr. Chapman declared that he had never heard of Rev. Theodore Wood, the English naturalist, whose cabled interview upheld the contention of Prof. Long, that snipe are experts in repairing bones broken by the bullets of sportsmen.

MAY RESTORE GUILLOTINE.

Paris, Aug. 29.—There is reason to believe the guillotine will again make its appearance in France for carrying out rapital punishment. The high court to-day denied an appeal made by a man condemned to death in this city for the year and had tried all kinds of medical treatment but without any results. Small pimples broke out around my waist-line and where the clothing was tight on the body. These pimples began to enlarge and thicken until they formed in patches. Then it worked upward until my face was covered. At first I did not notice it much until I became warm from working. Then it seemed almost unbearable as the parts seemed inflamed and itched so that I could hardly keep from scratching it all the time. The places were rather scaly and became moist when rubbed. Afterward the skin seemed parched and highly discolored. I remained indoors as I was ashamed to be out in company. I had suffered for about seven months before I tried Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. After I had used them a week, I found great relief and I continued for five weeks, not missing a single day and now you could not tell I had ever had eczema. My complexion is as good, if not better than ever, and I cannot find words sufficient to do the Cuticura Remedies justice. Minnie Hutchins, La Cygne, Kan., Apr. 19 and 30, 1907."

SECY. TAFT WANTS GOOD TRUSTS PRESERVED.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 29.—The most important event of a busy day in Denver for Secy. of War William H. Taft was a speech he delivered late this afternoon on the steps of the state capitol. He closed his stay in this city with a reception given by Yale men at the University club, and a dinner at the Brown Palace hotel, at which a hundred prominent Republicans of the state sat down. At 8 o'clock tonight Mr. Tart left for Yellowstone park.

He deviated somewhat to reply to the published statements of William J. Bryan on trusts. He said Bryan wanted to extirpate the trusts,

"If he means by this that he wants the trusts dissolved into their constituent, parts, we do not agree with him. We want the good ones continued and the bad ones ablished, and all properly regulated."

There were more than 300 specimens, and Prof. G. W. Bartelmez, of the New York university, in charge of the New York university, in charge of the university's station at White's island, Bermuda, came with them.

The shipment included a speckled moray four feet long, who proved a lively customer on the voyage; a cowfish, with well-developed horns; a surgeon fish, with a lance at the end of its tail; a queen trigger fish, which has two fins, one movable and the other immovable, sticking out of its back, and a jag fish, striped like a zebra.

Other unique speciments are a porcupine fish that closely resembles the land porcupine, a four-eyed fish with two real eyes, located in its head, and two rear-eyes, placed in its tail; several parrot fish, that look but do not talk the part; a trunk fish, a squirrel fish, a dozen "grunt" fish, 15 brilliantly colored "groupers," one weighing 20 pounds; a tropical lobster, 30 "hind" fish and a collection of conies.

One night a Portugese sailor who was sleeping on the deck heard a commotion among the fish tanks, Groping about in the darkness, he suddenly found his right thumb gripped by a row of teeth. He yelled for help, and when a light was brought it was found that the speckled moray had the thumb in its jaws, It took a whole lote of squeezing to make the

The moray, eager for a bite of fresh fish from its native waters, had wormed its way out of the tank in which it was kept and started on a foraging tour when the sailor interrupted him.

STOCKINGLESS BEAUTIES BARRED FROM BATHING.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 29.—"Stockingless beauties" are barred from the bathing beach by orders of the police department and Director Beckwith of the life-saving crew. At least, bold young women who affect a bathing costume without the hosiery equipment are politely informed to supply the deficiency if they wish to enjoy a dip in the surf or a trip on the strand.

"This practise of refusing stockings at the bath-house, while introduced by a few careless or super-bold young women, promised to become the most daring fad of the season. But we quickly stopped it. We are dress censors in so far as compelling bathing girls to wear hosiery, and bathing youths to avoid immodesty in dress."

This was the substance of a statement given out from Director Beckwith's hospital tent this afternoon, Observance by the director and prompt execution of orders by Cramer, one of the stars of the police force, have contributed much toward a well-regulated bathing beach this summer.

"There is less sand spooning now than ever," declares Director Beck-with.

church at Mount Washington suburb, took a flyer in high finance, which cost him and the members of his congregation $300,000. The members of Pastor Norris' flock until yesterday had dreams of becoming millionairs. Now they are wondering whether they are going to get any of their money back. The true state of affairs became known when Mrs. William Waters, who invested $10,000 in Dr. Norris' enterprise, started suit to recover her money.

Dr. Norris promoted a mining company and had the offices of his concern in the basement of the church. With $300,000 obtained from the sale of stock, he bought 1,000 acres of Ohio land containing coal and fire clay. A development company was formed to exploit the land, but that venture did not succeed and the pastor formed a fire brick concern. This was no more successful and the pastor then bought
